Order:

The petitioner, a Degree College, has filed this writ petition questioning the proceedings dated 24-12-2005 fixing the examination centre for lab examinations in SR & BGNR College, Khammam.

2. It is the case of the petitioner that during the academic year 2004-2005, already the petitioner-institution was given a centre for practical examinations, but for this academic year, i.e. 2005-2006, without any valid reason, the respondents have changed the centre to SR & BGNR College, Khammam.

3. In the counter affidavit filed on behalf of the respondents, it is stated that during the academic year 2004-2005, the petitioner-college was running in the premises No.8-5-82/1, Jammibanda Road, Khammam. Basing on the inspection by the team in the aforesaid premises, permission was earlier granted to have a practical centre, however, it is stated that the petitioner-college, without prior permission of the university or the A.P. State Council for Higher Education, shifted to new premises at Nehru Nagar, Khammam. It is further stated that the facilities in the labs at the newly shifted premises are not sufficient to take examinations.

4. Though it is stated by the learned counsel for the petitioner that already labs were improved, but, however, it is to be seen that the examinations are to be commenced from 26-02-2006. As much as it is stated in the counter affidavit that requisite facilities are not made available, yet, whether the students can be allowed to take the practical examination in the newly shifted premises, and whether requisite facilities are available in the said premises or not, is a matter which is within the purview of experts in the field, and this Court cannot interfere at this stage. Moreover, examinations are to be conducted from 26-02-2006. If the facilities in the lab have been improved, the petitioner can approach the respondents to get their centre allocated for the next academic year, but the same is no ground to interfere so far as the present academic year is concerned.

5. The writ petition is accordingly dismissed. No costs.
